Training in Supervision

Friday, 9th and Saturday, 10th February 2018

We are offering training over two days for Accredited Members of the C.G. Jung Institute Zürich, Küsnacht, who want to become a supervisor – and for all interested Psychotherapists and Psychoanalysts.

Two senior supervisors will provide theoretical input and 'live-supervision'. This can take the form of individual supervision in front of the training participants, who will discuss the work done afterwards together. It can also be group supervision. The participants are invited to bring with them case material out of supervisions or therapies, that they feel could benefit from supervision.

Dreams in Supervision II

Eva-Maria Spiller, Dr. med.

Two years ago we had a training day on 'Dealing with Dreams in Group Supervision' – working with initial dreams in small groups and a transference-countertransference dream in the whole group.

This time I'd like to invite you to a market of dreamwork in supervision. That means: Some participants have the opportunity to practice their individual way of dreamwork in (individual or group) supervision with other participants who offer a dream. Afterwards there will be time to reflect the experiences.

How to encourage supervisees in their dreamwork with patients/analysands? Which aspects of 'our' dream theory appear to be significant in dreamwork supervision? These and other emerging issues will be discussed.

Expecting a multi-lingual group of colleagues – please bring your own or clients' dreams in a typed version in English. We can make copies, which will be collected at the end, for reasons of confidentiality.

Is there Transference in Supervision?

The Challenges of Working 'in' and 'with' Transference and Countertransference Dynamics within the Supervisory Relationship

Jan Wiener, MSc

The day will explore in depth different kinds of transference dynamics that can emerge in supervision and the supervisor's countertransference affects which can both promote and inhibit an understanding of how to best facilitate the development of the therapists they are supervising.
